Supplying Certainty to Food Processors

Cogent offers full service packaging expertise with deep industry knowledge, access to top suppliers, and the product breadth to enhance your business operations as a food processor. We start by looking at your product and your operations to provide objective guidance on package design, materials, production costs, and the impact on freight.

We will deliver a better experience, help you see opportunities to optimize your operations, and supply you with certainty. We do this by:

- Creating innovative packaging solutions that enhance visual appeal and performance while reducing waste
- Providing an objective assessment of your packaging design to reduce material, and production costs
- Identifying and suggesting solutions to eliminate production bottlenecks
- Suggesting equipment upgrades that improve line speed and reduce manual processes to mitigate labor-shortage issues
- Optimizing your pallet and wrap configuration to protect your product and reduce freight costs
- Providing friendly, expert service from your dedicated account representative

We offer objective and experienced package design guidance. Because we are not manufacturers, we do not have a substrate or material bias. We can help you find the optimal solution for your needs.
